

Stop Piracy with SmartDongle™

Advanced protection for software developers

Security Breaches are Expensive!

Whether your company faces reduced revenues due to illegal software distribution or the release of inside financial information, guarding your data is a vital part of defense.

The SmartDongle™ USB device guards against license theft, software invasion, and illegal file sharing. Simply customize the access key with our easy-to-use application programming interface, and the SmartDongle™ becomes the single point of access for your software.

With its convenient size, users can easily transfer the SmartDongle between work locations.

Stop Unauthorized Software Access

Forget your worry that one sale will result in endless illegal copies that cut into your revenues, because the software will not open without the SmartDongle™.
